

CELEBRATING DECADES OF DEDICATED GIVING

Ruth Peppard has been giving graciously to the Molly Appeal campaign for over twenty years.

Ruth Peppard has understood what the Molly Appeal represents for many years – community banding together to move the needle on health research. That’s why she’s been giving graciously to the Molly Appeal campaign every year, for over twenty years. Now, as she prepares for the future, Ruth has generously set aside a gift to DMRF in her will, and will continue to support medical research in the region for years to come.

“My mother took an interest in DMRF and the Molly Appeal in its early days,” Ruth explains. Noting that her mother passed away shortly after the Molly Appeal began, Ruth has been donating on behalf of her family over the years, and for every family out there affected by illness.

Having lost her own sister to a heart attack almost two years ago, Ruth is particularly passionate about heart research in women. She hopes her contributions may one day help influence life-saving discoveries in this area, in her sister’s honour.

It is because of local donors like Ruth that DMRF’s Molly Appeal has been so successful over the years, raising over $6 million to date for medical research in the Maritimes. On behalf of everyone at DMRF, we thank you, Ruth, for your loyal support and continued generosity.
